

Whistler Leather previews at Decorex 2010

Adorning the Champagne Bar at this year's Decorex, Whistler Leather unveils an unparalleled array of the world's finest leathers from its 2011 range for high-end interiors projects.

Based on nurtured relationships with the world's finest tanneries, Whistler Leather supplies the highest quality, most desirable, top grain hides in hundreds of textures and custom colours, carefully preserving the natural characteristics that make each piece so unique.

Whistler Leather is the sister company of luxury bespoke furniture design and manufacturer Ben Whistler. Over the last ten years, Ben Whistler's range of leathers have been chosen by top interior designers to grace prestigious commercial properties including the Dubai Aviation Club, the Turnberry Resort and Pierre Koffman at the Berkeley as well as superyachts and spaces within artfully designed houses. Whistler Leather will continue this tradition, revealing a new colour palette for every season.

A selection of luxurious Whistler Leather hides will decorate the nature-inspired Champagne Bar and seating at Decorex 2010 in shades of aubergines, grays and petrol blues.

Says Whistler Leather's MD Ben de Groot "We're showcasing our sumptuous leathers for the interiors industry in high style and comfort as a foretaste of our new range. Reflecting the natural, beautifully flawed element of Whistler Leather hides, our Champagne Bar will provide a perfect respite from the exhibition with a welcoming yet intimate setting."

A wide selection of leathers including rich supple textures, distressed and haired hides will be stocked at their West London showroom from November 2010, establishing the company as London's pre-eminent leather supplier for the high-end interiors market.
